

emergency cases.

- Finally training the doctors of the future is one of the most important aspects of Civil Hospital and Dow Medical College, Karachi. Once the images are saved in the archives, the resultant database can be used for teaching students and will provide the basis of much needed research in Pakistan.
- Approximately 200,000 patients are expected to benefit from the new technology annually.

Cost of the Project

The estimated cost of the digital radiology project is approximately US $300,000 (approx. Rs. 25 million). The Class of 1985 doctors have pledged to raise at least 50% of the total cost through their own pocket.

Approximate timeline of the Project

The project will be supervised & run by the Dow85 Alumni Foundation. The first consignment of the equipment, inshallah, is to be installed by 20th December 2010. As the project is modular and we can add-on according to final budget, we are ordering approximately one third of the total equipment in the first instance; the rest of the equipment will be ordered once we have acquired the remaining funds.

We now request you to be a part of Digital Radiology Project, Civil Hospital Karachi and appeal to your philanthropic nature and generosity and also to your corporate social responsibility to support this cause for the greater benefit of the poor people of Pakistan.

We will be grateful if your organization were to donate as much as possible in this noble cause.
